

PRUDENTIAL STANDARD CPS 999 — SAMPLE CONSOLIDATED REQUIREMENTS (DUMMY DOCUMENT)

This is a fictional document generated for testing Redline. It has no regulatory effect.

Objectives: This Prudential Standard sets out sample requirements used to demonstrate side-by-side document comparison.

Part 1 — Requirements relating to capital adequacy requirements.

Clause 1. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to capital adequacy requirements, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 2. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to capital adequacy requirements, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 3. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to capital adequacy requirements, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 4. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to capital adequacy requirements, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 5. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to capital adequacy requirements, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 6. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to capital adequacy requirements, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 7. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to capital adequacy requirements, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 8. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to capital adequacy requirements, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 9. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to capital adequacy requirements, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 10. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to capital adequacy requirements, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Part 2 — Requirements relating to liquidity coverage obligations.

Clause 11. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to liquidity coverage obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 12. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to liquidity coverage obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 13. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to liquidity coverage obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 14. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to liquidity coverage obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 15. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to liquidity coverage obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 16. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to liquidity coverage obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 17. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to liquidity coverage obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 18. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to liquidity coverage obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 19. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to liquidity coverage obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 20. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to liquidity coverage obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Part 3 — Requirements relating to operational risk controls.

Clause 21. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to operational risk controls, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 22. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to operational risk controls, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 23. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to operational risk controls, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 24. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to operational risk controls, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 25. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to operational risk controls, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 26. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to operational risk controls, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 27. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to operational risk controls, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 28. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to operational risk controls, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 29. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to operational risk controls, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 30. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to operational risk controls, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Part 4 — Requirements relating to outsourcing arrangements with third parties.

Clause 31. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to outsourcing arrangements with third parties, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 32. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to outsourcing arrangements with third parties, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 33. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to outsourcing arrangements with third parties, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 34. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to outsourcing arrangements with third parties, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 35. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to outsourcing arrangements with third parties, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 36. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to outsourcing arrangements with third parties, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 37. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to outsourcing arrangements with third parties, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 38. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to outsourcing arrangements with third parties, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 39. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to outsourcing arrangements with third parties, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 40. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to outsourcing arrangements with third parties, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Part 5 — Requirements relating to information security incident response.

Clause 41. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to information security incident response, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 42. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to information security incident response, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 43. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to information security incident response, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 44. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to information security incident response, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 45. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to information security incident response, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 46. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to information security incident response, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 47. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to information security incident response, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 48. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to information security incident response, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 49. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to information security incident response, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 50. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to information security incident response, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Part 6 — Requirements relating to board oversight and governance.

Clause 51. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to board oversight and governance, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 52. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to board oversight and governance, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 53. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to board oversight and governance, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 54. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to board oversight and governance, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 55. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to board oversight and governance, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 56. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to board oversight and governance, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 57. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to board oversight and governance, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 58. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to board oversight and governance, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 59. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to board oversight and governance, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 60. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to board oversight and governance, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Part 7 — Requirements relating to remuneration disclosure obligations.

Clause 61. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to remuneration disclosure obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 62. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to remuneration disclosure obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 63. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to remuneration disclosure obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 64. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to remuneration disclosure obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 65. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to remuneration disclosure obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 66. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to remuneration disclosure obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 67. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to remuneration disclosure obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 68. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to remuneration disclosure obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 69. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to remuneration disclosure obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 70. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to remuneration disclosure obligations, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Part 8 — Requirements relating to credit risk concentration limits.

Clause 71. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to credit risk concentration limits, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 72. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to credit risk concentration limits, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 73. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to credit risk concentration limits, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 74. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to credit risk concentration limits, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 75. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to credit risk concentration limits, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 76. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to credit risk concentration limits, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 77. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to credit risk concentration limits, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 78. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to credit risk concentration limits, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 79. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to credit risk concentration limits, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 80. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to credit risk concentration limits, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Part 9 — Requirements relating to stress testing and scenario analysis.

Clause 81. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to stress testing and scenario analysis, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 82. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to stress testing and scenario analysis, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 83. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to stress testing and scenario analysis, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 84. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to stress testing and scenario analysis, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 85. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to stress testing and scenario analysis, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 86. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to stress testing and scenario analysis, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 87. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to stress testing and scenario analysis, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 88. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to stress testing and scenario analysis, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 89. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to stress testing and scenario analysis, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 90. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to stress testing and scenario analysis, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Part 10 — Requirements relating to recovery and resolution planning.

Clause 91. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to recovery and resolution planning, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 92. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to recovery and resolution planning, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 93. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to recovery and resolution planning, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 94. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to recovery and resolution planning, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 95. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to recovery and resolution planning, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 96. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to recovery and resolution planning, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 97. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to recovery and resolution planning, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 98. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to recovery and resolution planning, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 99. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to recovery and resolution planning, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Clause 100. An APRA-regulated entity must, in relation to recovery and resolution planning, maintain policies and procedures that are approved by the Board, reviewed at least annually, and commensurate with the size, business mix and complexity of the entity. The entity must retain evidence of compliance with this clause for a period of 7 years.

Commencement: This standard commences on 1 January 2027.